

Global Citizenship Project: YOUTH TALK

A JOINT VENTURE OF AL HUSSAN AND BUFFALO SCHOOL TEXAS

Education

What kind of education system do they have? Who goes to school?

Students of Al Hussan International

School, Girls Section are participating in a global citizenship program called, “Youth Talk.”

Geography

Where is it? What countries border it? What is the environment like?

They are paired with a partner school in America to connect in real time for face to face inter cultural dialogue, where they will investigate the driving question, “How do we, as youth, engage our communities to create positive and social change?” Together they will gain leadership skills and tools to take positive action in their local and global communities.

People, Culture, & Religion

Who lives there? What languages do they speak? Which religions are practiced?

They attended their first interactive video conference with Buffalo High School, Texas on 28th October, 2015 from 3: 00 p.m.– 4: 15 p.m. Together they discussed about their countries’ education system, people, culture, religious practices, geography, history and government.

History and Government

What significant events have taken place in this country? What is the current government?

Their response to each other’s questions was highly positive and non – judgmental. They gained a lot from each other’s experiences. They also represented their cultures by wearing traditional dresses and by discussing different festivals and traditional food they usually share with their families.

Overall, it was an absolute delight to see our youth exchanging their positive thoughts with each other. Their next video conference will be in December.

Human Rights

Which rights do citizens have? Which groups struggle for these rights?
